COVID –19 Update from Govanhill Housing Association

Over the last few months COVID-19 restrictions have begun to ease. At the time of writing Glasgow is under Level 3 restrictions, however according to the Scottish Government’s phased plan we hope that this will progress to level 0 by July.

These changes bring welcome freedoms and see the return of hospitality venues and other aspects of normality, however even when we progress to level 0 government guidance still states that working from home should be the default option. You can read more about the Covid protection levels online at www.gov.scot/publications/coronavirus-covid-19-protection-levels

The Scottish Government have stated that even at a restriction ‘level 0’ home working for non-essential workers should remain the default position. This means that Samaritan House should remain closed to the public.

Some of our staff will be in the office to complete essential tasks such as letting properties, and others may be out in the community dealing with repairs and property checks, but as a rule our staff will continue to work from home.

However
• Although the office is closed for health and safety reasons, the Association is very much still open.
• In person appointments can still be made if they are necessary and these must be arranged in advance.

You can contact our staff by phone during normal working hours to discuss all tenancy and housing matters: full staff contact details are available on the reverse of this newsletter.
Phased Re-Opening: What this Means for our Services

Repairs and Maintenance

From Monday 26th of April the Association recommenced non-essential repairs and maintenance.

During the national lockdown we have continued to provide essential repairs and have completed 6,780 number of repairs along with programmed gas safety checks during this time.

Our contractors will be continuing to carry out repairs using the safety systems we have put in place as a result of COVID-19, using the appropriate protective equipment to keep you as safe as possible.

Development

Now that restrictions are being relaxed, we are pleased to confirm that our delayed window and kitchen upgrades will be carried out this year. Our Development Team will keep tenants concerned updated.

Factoring

Our factoring team continue to work hard from home. We’re still contactable from Monday to Friday 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. to deal with any issues you may have about any aspect of our services.

Staff can be contacted on 0141 - 636 – 3666 or 0141 - 636 – 3673 and our email address is FactoringTeam@govanhillha.org.

The factoring team are receiving a high volume of calls. If you are struggling to get through, please leave a voicemail and we will get back to you as soon as we can.

Govanhill Community Development Trust (GCDT)

Our staff are working hard from home and continue to find creative ways to engage with the community through online platforms such as Facebook and Zoom. Staff are available for support work over the phone.

The Community Support Centre on Allison Street remains closed and will be for the foreseeable future.

Offices/Workspaces To Rent

We have a number of offices to rent on flexible terms, available to essential services at the current time (in line with Scottish Government Covid guidelines). For more information, please contact Marie McBeth, email mmcbeth@govanhillha.org or call 07741 893008.
Three of the Association and GCDT’s multilingual staff have recently featured in information videos created by the NHS to set the record straight on COVID-19 and vaccination.

Myths around the safety of vaccination can spread in all communities regardless of language spoken: it is vital that everyone is able to access accurate information.

The videos are available online and can be viewed on the GCDT Facebook page.

COVID-19 2020/2021: Remembering our Loved Ones in Govanhill and Merrylee

Govanhill Housing Association, our Committee and Staff wish to offer our deepest condolences to everyone who has lost someone during this extraordinary and difficult time.

The COVID-19 Crisis has affected all of us. It can be difficult to comprehend the scale of loss around the world, and in our community.

Our thoughts are with everyone in Govanhill and Merrylee grieving a loved one this year. Grief and loss at a time when we are also physically isolated from each other is particularly cruel and there is little anyone can say to make the process any easier.

If you find yourself struggling to cope help is out there.

Cruse Bereavement Care Scotland have a helpline and a webchat on their site at http://www.crusescotland.org.uk/

Their Helpline is available on from 9am-8pm Monday to Friday and from 1pm-4pm at weekends.

Call 0808 802 6161 free to speak to someone.

Community Remembrance Garden

The Govanhill Community Remembrance Garden remains open and provides a peaceful space for contemplation and remembrance.

The garden was founded in 2016 when the first tree was established. During this time the garden has been a great success.

The garden will be 5 years old in July this year, and the group are looking to put up a fourth tree soon.

Anyone who wishes to remember a loved one can order a plaque with their name to be placed on the memorial trees. The plaques are made by Gerry Flemming, formerly the Cobbler on Allison Street. There is a small charge of £5 for this, which covers the creation and installation of the plaques.

For more information about the garden, or to order a plaque to remember a loved one visit the community remembrance garden on Facebook: facebook.com/GovanhillCommunityRemembranceGarden

Remembering Susie Kennedy

The Association was very sad to learn of the passing of our colleague Susan Kennedy in March this year.

Susan, more often known as Susie, worked with the Association for almost 8 years as a finance assistant. Susie was an exceptionally kind and helpful person who was well liked by everyone she worked alongside.

Susie always had a smile for us and made many friends in the organisation. She will be greatly missed.

Our thoughts are with everyone who knew and loved her, especially her two children Jennifer and Scott.

Govanhill Housing Association Spring 2021
At the end of April Ken MacDougall retired as Head of Development & Regeneration Services after an incredible 39 years with the Association. We asked him for some of his reflections from his time in Govanhill.

Govanhill must have been a very different place in the 1980s, what do you think has changed the most in the time you have worked with the Association?

‘People forget what it was like in the late 70s and early 80s, Govanhill was just an array of blackened tenements, some of the conditions were horrific, no hot running water, homes with no proper bathroom or kitchen, closes with no doors – there were even outside toilets on half-landings’

‘It was the same for a lot of inner-city communities at the time but there was a lot of funding made available for communities like Govanhill to improve the area. The Housing Association movement was young, but it was an inspiring time. We bought whole portfolios of properties from private landlords and trusts, and some owner occupiers. It was a bit like the South West Govanhill Project, with the Council designating the tenement blocks Housing Action Areas for Improvement. This rolling programme of tenement improvements continued until around 2004 when the funding for this type of work stopped’

‘After 2004 we worked on a lot of newbuilds, and of course the conversion of the former Royal Samaritan Hospital. In 1991 the Association founded Govanhill Community Development Trust, which contributed to the social, economic and environmental regeneration and developed workspace and office facilities to host organisations like Sistema and Playlist for Life.’

In many ways the Association was responsible for saving the tenements from the bulldozers. The committee, local residents and owners took advantage of what was on offer and changed the face of the area, people kept the community together – unlike what happened in other parts of the city’

It must have felt like you had come full circle with the South West Govanhill Project?

‘Yes, it did. That is the best way of putting it. The South West area was never improved during the initial phase and had gone into a spiral of decline because of a lack of investment, mostly from private landlords. The South West Project to bring tenements into the Association’s control has been like the rehabilitation work completed in the rest of Govanhill decades earlier.’

You have led on so much important work during your time with the Association, from your involvement in the redevelopment of the Samaritan Hospital, your work with Govanhill Community Development Trust, numerous other development and regeneration projects and of course the South West Govanhill initiative. Is there any part of your work that you are most proud of?

‘The mixed-use redevelopment and conversion of the former Royal Samaritan Hospital was a real highlight - a jewel in the crown of the Govanhill regeneration story. It was a real leap of faith by the Committee at the time when the hospital came up for sale but the Association was determined to purchase it for the benefit of the community. Fortunately, we were successful in our bid and the rest is history. It took 10 years to complete and it provided many challenges, keeping it secure and water tight – but it is now a shining example of restoration, preservation and sustainable development.’

I hope that Nan’s dairy is still going!

I would like to see that there hasn’t been any decline in what has been achieved and that the Association is still going strong and continuing to achieve its vision with local people leading.

I would like to see that Govanhill is still as vibrant and diverse a community as it is now, and that people still want to live there, work there and play there.

What do you think you will miss most about Govanhill or the Association?

Working in an area for so long I will miss going there every working day. I will miss colleagues and committee members and engaging with local people.

I will miss going to Nans for my lunch!

What do you hope for the community of Govanhill for the future? If you come back in 10 years for a roll at Nan’s, what would you like to see?

This month we also said goodbye to David Grigor who has retired after 10 years service working in our Merrylee office, and earlier in the year to Billy Cassidy who has worked for the Association for 9 years as a maintenance officer.

Everyone at the Association wishes Ken, David, and Billy a long and happy retirement.
